Some Noticing Activities:

Fun things to do together:

- * Stand outside, lie down on a blanket in the grass, and then shut your eyes and listen. What kinds of things do you hear? Are there a lot of sounds? What kinds of sounds are they? Are they loud?
- * Take a walk around the block. How many different colors can you find? Discuss them with the person you are walking with. What kinds of things do you see during the summer that you wouldn't see during other seasons? If you want to, you can make this into an "I Spy" game.
- * When riding in the car, count the number of restaurants, buildings, cars (or anything that you see). Are there too many to count? Try counting the number of red cars, blue buildings, etc.

Watching

("Frere Jacques")

Watch the cars go, watch the cars go

Whizzing by, whizzing by

Beep beep beep beep beep beep

That's like mine! That's like mine!

Watch the houses go, watch the houses go

Rolling by, rolling by

Look at all the kids play. Look at all the kids play.

Just like me! Just like me!
